

Teachers strike at Iggy Park

IGNATIUS Park College will this Wednesday experience continued industrial action started earlier this month.

Teachers seeking better pay have planned a strike at a number of Queensland's most prestigious Catholic schools in the middle of exams.

Townsville Catholic School director Dr Cathy Day said none of the 31 Catholic schools and colleges in the Townsville Diocese was involved.

She said Ignatius Park College operated under the jurisdiction of Edmund Rice Education Australia and was not a Diocesan systemic school.

Teachers from the Queensland Independent Education Union will strike on Wednesday in their fight to bring their pay in line with other states.